ELLY & LEON'S MINSTRELS, TO THE AMERICAN PUBLIC.

At the close of a session of sustained brilliancy Strakosch desires to express to the American public cognition of the appreciation shown the talent he the means of bringing before it, his gratitude for the agement accorded, and his resolve, by future labors, his worthiness of approval and support. Three materials, each momentous in its infuence and undergrises, each momentous in its infuence and undergrises.

cognition of the appreciation shown the salect he has been the means of bringing before it, his gratitude for the encouragement accorded, and his resoire, by future labors, to assess his worthiness of approval and support. Three musical caregives, each momentous in its indusers and undertaking have in consecutive years been bonored with attention, criticism and encouracement. The inaugural representations of the Grand Opera House, consisting of operatio performances by Misadome de Lagrange and Signor Brignoit; the lengtheness series of operatic entertainments and concerts by Misa Clara Louise Kellogy, the representations of the Grand Opera House, consisting of operation performance series of operatic entertainments and concerts by Misa Clara Louise Kellogy, the representative of Americae art, and the recollection of their successful results of the properties of the successful results. The series of the properties of the successful results and patronage, forms now motivate the successful results, greater and care of the sentences of the United States, effected with the co-operation of his barther, M. Maurice Strakosch, of Malle, CHRISTINE NILSSON.

It is not Mr. Strakosch's intention to oversien, at present, the limits outlined above. He will, in consequence, confine humself to the statement that Mile, Nilsson's engagement has been formally concluded by M. Maurice Strakosch, in the face of competition with the most prominent managers of the Old and the New World, and of strayous opposition from crowned beads. Mr. Strakosch sails for Europe on the lith intention to the presentation to the public of this Continent of the sister of Jenny Lind and queen of song, Mile, Christine Nilsson, who will make her first appearance in America on Mouday, September 19, 1870.
